MRS. ETHEL TAYLOR CRITTENDEN

AFTER thirty years as head librarian, Mrs. E. T. Crittenden this year retires from her position which she has so ably held since 1915. Throughout her life of association with Wake Forest College Mrs. Crittenden's achievements have been many and lasting. The library has had her efficient and loving care ever since she has been connected with the college. Mrs. Crittenden is the daughter, wife, and mother of outstanding Wake Forest men. Her life has been connected with the college since her birth, and she has given many selfless years to the building of a library that would serve the students and faculty.

In her quiet way, Mrs. Crittenden has long been a vital part of the college. She has filled her position with modesty and humility. In this, her last year as head librarian, it is with respect for her helpfulness and devotion that this, the forty-fourth issue of THE HOWLER, is dedicated to Mrs. Ethel Taylor Crittenden.

*J*OREWORD

REMEMBRANCE of the year 1946 will long be in the minds of the students and faculty as the year that the Wake Forest boys came home again. After many years of being away in the service, that many of us so fondly remembered, have returned to their Alma Mater. We welcomed them back to the old routine of classes, cokes in the bookstore between classes, and various club and fraternity meetings. The return of the servicemen has not found the campus exactly as they left it, a man's college, but in its stead a completely co-educational one. During this year of returning to normalcy, the college has not only reached its pre-war enrollment, but exceeded it. This condition has caused many hardships on the students and the faculty, but, nevertheless, they have demonstrated that spirit of overflowing difficulties which has been characteristic of Wake Forest men since the founding of the college.

Also particularly trying on the students is the indecision of the probable moving of the College from its site of over a hundred years' history and tradition. The outcome of this controversy, optional to the Baptist State Convention, will distinguish the one of two entirely different futures that Wake Forest College will experience.

This year we are introducing a book type annual, one in which the written material is separated from the pictures. An orderly arrangement and different type of paper is given the written material and pictures, thus giving each more individuality and continuity. This extra emphasis is, in our opinion, an essence that is omitted in the conventional model of yearbook.

We hope that this book will serve in the future as both a reference and a memoir of this year's activities of each individual student enrolled here, and in the event that the college is moved, it will be a memory of all that we love in this, our Wake Forest College.

*We place no wreath for you upon the sod;
Were it the fairest mortal eyes e'er saw
It still would speak of death
And fade at the first breath
Of the hot sunshine after summer starts.
No; rather would we crown you in our hearts
And at the loving mention of your name
As with one voice would mightily proclaim:
"Today, where would I be
Had you not given to me
The majesty, the logic of the Law
And through it all, beneath, above it—God!"*

COLLEGE ENROLLMENT GREATLY INCREASED BY VETERANS RETURN

The college has this year felt the growing pains coming with a greatly increased student body, drawn from recently returned veterans of the world battle fronts. The campus has that definitely cosmopolitan air, caught from the men who have been all over the world.

The year 1946, has seen many of the old students and professors return that we knew in our freshmen year. There has developed at Wake Forest a postwar building program, our version of reconversion for peace time. The increased size of the various classes will be immediately seen after going through the foregoing pages. Many new faces will be recognized in the faculty by the older students, and they will seem strangely new to others. The most serious question facing the college this year has been finding places for students to stay. They have been placed in the gym and other places which give only temporary residence; many new students have been turned away temporarily until more living space can be supplied. The law school will be seen as a greatly increased body of students, mostly veterans.

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

WE WAKE FOREST men have been fortunate in having the benefits of leadership under a group of men who are so eminently suited for their positions.

During the sixteen progressive years under the administration of Dr. Thurman D. Kitchin, Wake Forest College has experienced a well-planned and steady rise in broadening the span of national recognition. Dr. Kitchin has had to face during his administration a great depression and a greater world war, and now faces an expanding student body with a serious shortage of rooming space for students. The years 1930-1946 have seen a great many changes in the physical equipment of the college. Dr. Kitchin has been faced this year with the question of moving the college to Winston-Salem. Many of the students and alumni will be saddened by the thought of leaving the beautiful colonial buildings and Magnolia covered campus, but Wake Forest College was founded to provide a great Christian educational institution for the people of North Carolina. The students must lay aside their sentimentality and view this move with the great opportunity offered the college. There is no person more able to meet this problem than Dr. Kitchin, the college president.

Dr. Daniel B. Bryan, who has served as dean for twenty-three years, is a man with modesty and an inimitable manner. Dean Bryan, always ready to extend a helping hand, has come to be known as "the Student's friend." Upon his shoulders fall the many tasks concerned with the administrative duties and student discipline. He has an unlimited knowledge of real life, and his advice is always sound.

Miss Lois Johnson, the first dean of women, has come to be associated with this new tradition at Wake Forest College. She is ever willing to offer assistance to all students and organizations. Though she has been here only a short time, she has already taken a place in the hearts of the students.

For forty years Elliott B. Earnshaw has been a loyal servant of Wake Forest College. His invaluable work as Bursar has been exceeded only by the admiration of students and faculty. He is a true friend and Christian gentleman. He is loved by all students who know him well, and is ever ready to be helpful.

Mr. Grady S. Patterson, registrar, has an unequalled position in the way of complicated tasks. The schedules he arranges, the records he must keep, the thousands of questions of prospective students he must answer are just a few of these tasks which he performs. The twenty years he has served as registrar have been no more complicated than now because he has numerous government questionnaires to fill out for every student who is a veteran.

THE FACULTY

The faculty of Wake Forest College represents much experience in the field of teaching. The faculty of 1945-1946 has found itself over taxed by an unprecedented influx of students this year. Most of them are veterans who are returning so fast and are bringing the enrollment quickly to unusual proportions.

The Biology Department, ably headed by Dr. O. C. Bradbury with the assistance of Dr. E. C. Cocke, has been supplemented this year by the return from service of Mr. C. M. Allen, Laboratory Instructor.

The men of the Biology, Chemistry, and Physics Departments play a vital role in the training of future doctors, dentists, and men of science, and help give all students a general knowledge of some scientific field.

The Chemistry Department faculty has been reinforced by the return of Dr. C. S. Black and Dr. J. W. Nowell from service. Mr. J. A. Freeman and Mr. J. B. Cook who were here during the war admirably upheld the department's work.

Dr. W. E. Speas has carried the burden of the Physics Department since the loss of Dr. H. M. Parker, who took a place in vital industry during the war. Dr. Speas who has long headed this department is, as usual, carrying on its exceptionally fine work.

The department of English, headed by Dr. H. B. Jones, with the assistance of Dr. E. E. Folk, Mr.

D. A. Brown, and Mr. A. L. Aycock, has gained many new faculty members: Dr. H. L. Snuggs, Mr. T. B. White, Mr. R. L. Holt, and Miss Beulah Lassiter, who have all been overworked this year with many new students who are studying English language and literature.

The English Department is known for its assistance to the extracurricular activities of the campus and for their sponsorship of many groups, such as the Little Theatre the Debate Squad, and the Publication Row.

The department of Education is again filling to capacity with prospective teachers under the teaching skill of Dr. D. B. Bryan and Mr. J. L. Memory, Jr., who are again sending out over the state teachers who are well prepared with Christian ideals.

Dr. A. C. Reid has been head of the department of Philosophy and Psychology for many years and has carried the burden of the work throughout the war. His classes have rapidly filled with the return of a normal sized student body.

The Music Department is under the able direction of Mr. Thane McDonald, who has recently returned from service. Miss Albertine Lefler, his assistant, carried the department through the war. Main functions of this department have returned to normal action since the enrollment has increased.

The department of mathematics, under the direction of Professor H. A. Jones, lost the least number of men to the armed services. Professor Jones is ably assisted by Mr. K. T. Raynor, Mr. J. G. Carroll, Mr. R. L. Gay. With a new emphasis on practical studies many more students are enrolling in the technical subjects of this department than heretofore.

Miss Lois Johnson, directing the Modern Language Department, has had the assistance of Miss Nell Downtin in Spanish, Mr. R. M. Clifton and Miss Mary Paschal in French. It is expected that the German Language will be returned to the curriculum in the fall semester.

The Classical Language Department, under the direction of Dr. H. M. Poteat and Dr. C. B. Earp in Latin and Greek respectively with the assistance of Mr. R. L. Greene, has directed the thoughts of their students through the complicated languages and the undying literature of Greece and Rome.

Dr. J. Allen Easley has led the growth of the department of Religion with the help of Dr. Bruce Benton, Dr. A. S. Gillespie, and Mr. R. L. Holt. These men will soon be joined by many outstanding men in the field of religion who will make up the new School of Religion.

The direction of the Social Science Department has long fallen to Dr. C. C. Pearson, an authority on Southern History. He has been ably assisted in history by Mr. F. W. Clonts, Mr. W. B. Yearnis, and, with the return of Dr. H. S. Stroup from service, the department is quickly expanding. Dr. L. O. Rea has for many years successfully directed the courses dealing with Business Administration, and is planning a widened curricula to meet the heavy demands in this course of study.

The Athletic Department under the leadership of Mr. J. H. Weaver, Athletic Director, has had a successful year in its program: An outstanding football team under the direction of Mr. D. C. Walker, Head Football Coach, the Basketball team gave many thrills in its games with the coaching done by Mr. M. C. Greason. The beginnings of track and tennis under the direction of Coach P. M. Utley and Dr. E. E. Folk respectively.

There is one group of men on the campus who seldom get much credit for their service to the college; Dr. G. C. Mackie, who has long been college physician; Mr. W. D. Holliday, the superintendent of buildings and grounds; Mr. C. J. Jackson, head of the enlargement campaign, with the able assistance of Messrs. E. I. Olive, J. H. Weaver, and J. L. Memory, Jr. Mr. Memory has also ably served as editor of Alumni News and as acting Alumni Secretary. Mrs. Ethel T. Crittenden, head librarian, is retiring after thirty years of service to the college.

WAKE FOREST SCHOOL OF LAW

THE WAKE FOREST LAW SCHOOL has had a long and varied history since its founding in 1895, by Dr. Needham Y. Gulley. In its first years of operation Dr. Gulley served as dean and only professor. The Law School has grown steadily since its founding, with an exceptional record of outstanding achievement. Dr. Gulley served as dean of the school from 1895 to 1936 and retired from active teaching about 1938. This year has witnessed the passing of two men who have done much to further the progress of the law school, Dr. Needham Y. Gulley and Professor Robert Bruce White. Dr. Gulley during his forty years as active dean established a record both with regard to long tenure of office and quality of work done—probably without equal in the history of American legal education.

In 1936 Dr. Gulley was succeeded as dean by Dr. Dale F. Stansbury, an able legal educator, who filled the position until 1944. Dr. Stansbury carried the Law School through the early part of the war into the temporary merger with Duke University law school. In 1940 there were some sixty-five students enrolled at that time, but by early 1943 the enrollment had decreased to the extent that operation was impossible, and it became necessary for the law school to combine with Duke to maintain standards of a first class law school. Professors Lake and Baer had joined the Office of Price Administration, and for a short period Dr. Gulley returned to teach.

In 1944 Professor Baer returned from government work to assume the position of dean of the law school, after Dr. Stansbury had joined the faculty of another school. Dean Baer was soon joined by Professor Lake, but shortly afterwards in 1945 Professor Baer joined the faculty at the University of North Carolina.

For a short period of time Professor Lake was the only active Wake Forest professor teaching in the combined schools. In the spring of 1946 Dr. Robert E. Lee of the Temple University faculty accepted the vacant position of dean. With the end of the war in the summer of 1945, many veterans began to return to the law school, and in the fall semester there were eleven students enrolled in all classes. There was an increase to twenty-nine in the spring semester and an outlook for many more as veterans began to return.

The Wake Forest Bar Association was formed in 1940 to provide a means of self-government for an ever expanding enrollment. The purpose of the association was in the words of the constitution "To form a more perfect union, to foster legal science, to maintain the honor and dignity of the legal profession among law students, to cultivate professional ethics and social intercourse among ourselves, and to promote the welfare of the law school of Wake Forest College."

The Bar Association has hardly had a chance at normal function because the war, soon after its inception, cut the enrollment to such an extent as to make its operation unnecessary.

The election of Seavy Carroll as president of the combined association of Duke-Wake Forest is unusual in that he is a Wake Forest man. The association has sponsored this year many luncheons where the students of the combined law school have been able to hear many prominent men in the legal field speak. They have also held occasional dances for the relaxation of the law students.

The enrollment of the law school at present is made up almost entirely of veterans. Most of these men are former students of the law school or of Wake Forest College. This year will witness the return of the law school with most of its normal functions to its place on the Wake Forest Campus. The Gamma Eta Gamma professional law fraternity has been reactivated and will be welcomed to again take part in the usual social affairs of the campus.

GAMMA ETA GAMMA

GAMMA ETA GAMMA is a national legal fraternity; it is primarily professional, but its local chapters take part in social functions. It was founded at the University of Maine in 1901. The Beta Gamma Chapter was founded at Wake Forest on December 17, 1927. Since that time the chapter has been very active, not only in the study of law, but also in campus politics and social functions. Some of the state's outstanding lawyers are alumni of the chapter.

During the war while the law school was operated in conjunction with Duke on the Duke University campus, Beta Gamma Chapter became inactive because most of its members were in the armed forces. Two of our men, Robert Goldberg and E. T. Harris, were killed in the service of their country.

In the fall semester of 1945 there were only three members and four pledges back in school. At the present time, in spite of the difficulty of being on another campus and having no chapter room, our membership has increased to seven members and nine pledges. It is believed that Beta Gamma has quite a distinction among fraternities in that all of its members and pledges are veterans.

Pledges: Paul B. Bell, Fred Chamblee, Jack Donell, Ralph Earnhardt, Charles Folger, Bernard Hollowell, Bill Jenkins, William Poteat, and Peck Sherril.

WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS

WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS in American Colleges and Universities is a national recognition for students who stand out as leaders because of "character, scholarship, leadership in extra-curricular activities, and potentiality for future usefulness to business and society." The names and biographies of those chosen for Who's Who are included in a volume which serves as an index to the outstanding students in the colleges and universities of the United States.

Men and women elected to Who's Who hold no meetings, elect no officers, have no organization. Membership is purely an honor.

The ten students who were elected for the year 1945-46 are: Eugene Deese, Dewey Hobbs, Anne Inman, Mary Lee James, Anne Johns, Betty Lide, Buster Mabe, Milton Marney, Luther Morphis, and Sallie Vaughn. John Chandler, Nancy Easley, and Nick Sacrinty were elected last year.

PHI BETA KAPPA

Phi Beta Kappa elected thirteen undergraduate members at Wake Forest this year: Robert Wilson Crapps, Frank Eugene Deese, Nancy Hyde Easley, Wilma Dorothy Grass, Sarah Anne Inman, Mary Lee James, Sibyl King Jolly, Lillian Rhyne Kanipe, Betty Lide, Isaac Rex Lockhart, Nicholas Sacrinty, William P. Smith, Jeanne Claire Wall.

Members in course are elected from candidates for degrees in liberal arts and sciences—as a rule, from the upper tenth of the graduating class. Of about 3,500 members elected each year, approximately ninety-five per cent are members in course. Alumni members are elected from the alumni body of the sheltering institution; ordinarily they have been graduated at least ten years and are thought to merit recognition for scholarly accomplishment.

The Phi Beta Kappa Society was organized at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia, on December 5, 1776.

The organization is composed of one hundred and forty-nine chapters located in the larger universities and colleges. Phi Beta Kappa has had a long history and has initiated into its group over 110,000 members, of which 86,000 are living.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

Sixteen students were elected into Omicron Delta Kappa this year at Wake Forest College: John T. Cochran, Harold P. Coston, Frank Eugene Deese, Edgar E. Folk, III, John R. Greene, John L. Hall, Dewey Hobbs, Crate Jones, Henry S. Lougee, William M. McGill, William T. McLean, Jr., Milton Marney, William T. Roberson, William P. Smith, Wade E. Vannoy, Jr., and Charles G. Young. Dr. A. C. Reid and Mr. Eugene I. Olive were elected from the faculty.

Omicron Delta Kappa, campus leadership honor fraternity for men, was founded at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Virginia, December 3, 1914.

Membership is awarded to junior and senior men, and to faculty and alumni, on the basis of character, scholarship, distinguished attainments in college and community life, and consecration to a great purpose.

There are forty-six chapters located in six geographical divisions called provinces, northern, eastern, central, southeastern, southwestern, and western, over all of which is a province deputy.

A graduate scholarship is awarded annually to a senior who, in the judgment of the committee on award, composed of five eminent educators, possesses the highest qualifications for the honor.

The local chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa was installed May 15, 1939. Under the direction of Dr. L. Owens Rea, the local honor society, the Golden Bough, petitioned Omicron Delta Kappa for a charter. Dr. Rea is the faculty adviser, and Dr. Henry S. Stroupe is the permanent secretary. Nick Sacrinty was president and John Chandler was vice president.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

Wake Forest College has undergone many changes in this year of transition between war and postwar conditions. The enrollment of the second semester exceeded any in the history of the College. The returning veterans have caused an acute shortage of academic, housing, and dining facilities. This year the first class of freshman girls enrolled in all departments, lending heavily to the existing crowded conditions. Bostwick and Hunter dormitories were remodeled for the girls, leaving Simmons alone for the men. The town was so crowded that men students were forced to stay in the basement of Gore Gymnasium.

There was a considerable enlargement in the facilities of the College this year in an attempt to meet the needs. A School of Religion was established with Dr. Sankey Blanton as dean, and two additional professors were added, Dr. Bruce Benton and Dr. Arthur Gillespie. Dr. Henry S. Stroupe, social science, Prof. Charles M. Allen, biology, and Prof. Thane E. McDonald, music, returned from service to resume their former positions on the faculty. Prof. W. B. Yearnis, social science, and Dr. John W. Nowell, Jr., chemistry, were also added to the faculty roster.

The first four buildings of the Enlargement Campaign were begun to alleviate the housing shortage as much as possible by the coming fall. One was a dormitory for men and the other three were dormitories for women, at the completion of which Bostwick and Hunter were to be returned to the men students. Construction on the girls' units was stopped later.

The Athletic Program this year found its place with the former years in having the regular full schedule of all sports, including football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis and golf. The football team made a very good showing in that it took second place in the Southern Conference and won the initial game in the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Florida. The basketball team won second place in the Southern Conference Tournament. The other teams showed very much the prewar spirit of the College.

The College and town, as well as the rest of the state, were stunned to hear of the offer of the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation to Wake Forest College of the income from the million dollars. This offer may rise to possibly a much greater amount to go to the endowment fund of the College if it would move to Winston-Salem on the site of Reynolda. The final decision has not been made and will not be until the Baptist State Convention convenes in November 1946.

With all the controversies now on hand and all the decisions that the College has made and has to make before next year, there can be no doubt but that this year has been one of crisis for the modern Wake Forest College.

FRATERNITY EXPANSION CAUSED BY VETERANS RETURN

The fraternities have grown this year in size and number. Delta Sigma Phi was reactivated by the return of its members from service after three years of inactivity. There has been a noticeable increase in social activities since fraternities have grown in membership, and there have been more dances and socials this year than any other since the opening of the war.

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

THE DUTY of the group is the governing of the fraternity system on the Wake Forest campus. Every Tuesday night two representatives from each chapter meet to discuss the problems of the fraternities.

The major activity of the Pan-Hellenic Council is planning and governing the activities of the fraternities. Rules about rushing, pledging and initiating new men are made each year and offenders are tried and fined by this group. Dance plans are the major concern of the council. They made the arrangements for orchestras, chaperones, publicity and regulate the individual chapter parties.

Intramural sports and other joint activities of the fraternities fall under the jurisdiction of the council. It encourages each chapter in its individual efforts by awarding trophies to those who are the most outstanding in intramural athletics and scholarship. An important function of the council is acting as the connecting link between the faculty and the fraternities.

Fred Hofmann presided over the Pan-Hellenic Council this year. He is a senior and Sig Ep from Pleasantville, New Jersey.

INTRA-FRATERNITY SOCIAL YEAR

THE HIGHLIGHTS of the social year of the fraternities are always their dances. This year the Pan-Hellenic Council presented to the fraternity men of the campus three such dances, Homecoming, Christmas and Spring. The council was forced to call off the annual Midwinter dances, but to meet the circumstance the fraternities split up and held dances which, although not quite so colorful, were comparable to the traditional Midwinters Social.

HOMECOMING

ON OCTOBER 12 and 13, Homecoming Day for numerous alumni, the Pan-Hellenic Council presented their first dance of the year. It was a big week-end for the first frat men with parties, pep rallies and the all important football game with Duke University.

Friday night found the fraternity men at pep rallies, and following that they congregated at the community house for the informal Friday night dance. Music for the dance was furnished by Frank Wright, popular Negro band leader from Durham, who made a hit at Wake Forest during the summer dances.

Saturday proved to be equally as entertaining if not more so. Fraternity houses were decorated for homecoming, and a prize was awarded for the best decorations, this honor falling to Kappa Alpha. Saturday afternoon saw the Wake Forest Demon Deacons drop a heartbreaking game to the Blue Devils of Duke.

In spite of the defeat of the football team, alumni and students moved this time to the high school gymnasium for the Saturday night formal dance. The gymnasium was beautifully decorated for the occasion with streamers, fraternity shields and all the other essentials which make up a Wake Forest dance.

CHRISTMAS DANCE

HELD JUST BEFORE the college adjourned for Christmas holidays, the Christmas dance proved to be most colorful, the decorations having been made by the co-eds. The formal affair was held in the high school gymnasium, filled with painted Christmas trees, holly branches, strands of running cedar, and mistletoe.

Fraternity houses were also decorated for the week-end. Each house had a Christmas tree and other appropriate decorations which gave a seasonal air to the houses. After dance parties were typically Christmas like, in some houses gifts were distributed by Santa Claus, in all houses the singing of Christmas Carols and exchanging of traditional Christmas greetings were obvious.

Jimmy Fuller and his orchestra furnished the music for the dance under the red and green lights placed in the gymnasium.

SPRING FROLICS

THE PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL failed to sponsor a dance at Midwinter but redoubled their efforts to bring to the fraternity men the most enjoyable dance of the year when Spring Frolics rolled around. There was much discussion as to where the dance was to be held and how much was to be paid to the band. Finally it was decided that the dance was to be held in the Memorial Auditorium in Raleigh and that a first class band was to be hired to furnish the music.

Since the price of first rate bands had jumped somewhat, compared to the prices which prevailed before the war, the council's problem now proved to be securing a band that was within the financial range of the fraternities. After many attempts and disappointments Sully Mason and his band was contracted to furnish the music for one night. Friday night was left open to the individual fraternities for parties, dances, or any other type of social they wished to have.

The week-end was a success, parties, dances, cabin-parties and banquets presented the fraternity man with two days of never to be forgotten enjoyment. The band was, beyond the shadow of doubt, the best to play for a Wake Forest dance in several years. The Memorial Auditorium was large and served to relieve the crowded conditions which were evident at other dances.

This dance was a preview of the dances which the council will present to the students next year and for future years to come, the difficulties of this year was a lesson to the council in making arrangements in the future.

The social year was also a success from the standpoint of private cabin parties, individual dances and other types of social function.

ALPHA KAPPA PI

HAVING just recovered from the blows which the war dealt all fraternities, the men of Alpha Kappa Pi undertook this year to bring their fraternity back to its pre-war strength. The main project of the group for the year was the complete redecoration of their house. The chapter-room was done over entirely: new rugs, paint job, and furniture. The attic, which served as a storage place during the war, was converted into rooming space. The gleaming neon sign, which has been the pride of this group of men since 1938, was raised just a little higher and shown just a little brighter than usual as a reminder that the fraternity was again rising to its former strength.

Outside of all reconversion as far as house maintenance was concerned, the men of this group were as active on the campus as ever. The brightest light which bore the seven pointed star on his chest was Nick Sacrinty, senior from Reidsville, who was elected captain of the football team, chosen on the All-Southern Conference eleven, and was elected to the national honorary fraternity Phi Beta Kappa. Nick was the only fraternity man to be elected to this honor, the fraternity is proud for themselves and for their brother. Dave Hill and Dick Steele were elected presidents of the chapter in the fall and spring respectively and led the group in its reconversion efforts.

Social life, the main basis upon which Alpha Kappa Pi was founded, has been near the chapter for the past year. First came the gala Homecoming dances, which found the men of the chapter ready and anxious. The alumni decorations, the first since the beginning of the war, were assembled and arranged in front of the house following the tradition of the chapter. Next came the Tri-Pi dances in which the chapter joined with Sigma Pi and Pi Kappa Alpha for a never to be forgotten week-end. The Pan-Hellenic Council Christmas dances were equally as enjoyable to the brothers. When the Pan-Hellenic Council was forced to call off the annual Mid-Winter dances, Alpha Kappa Pi joined forces with Sigma Pi for another memorable week-end. Friday night the men of both chapters congregated at the community house to dance to the music of Frank Wright; Saturday night they went to the Sir Walter Hotel in Raleigh for a banquet and formal dance. Spring dances proved to be the biggest set of dances that the Pan-Hellenic Council had presented in many years. Sully Mason and his band furnished the music for the dance, which was held in the Memorial Auditorium in Raleigh. Sponsors for the year's dances were: Miss Maxine Hudson, Wilson, N. C.; Miss Elizabeth Wiseman, Kannapolis, N. C.; Miss Elizabeth Cox, Raleigh, N. C.; Miss Margaret Anne Runion, Asheville, N. C.; and Miss Sarah Miles, Warrenton, N. C. The fraternity selected as its sponsor for the HOWLER, Miss Anne Wall, Rutherfordton, N. C.

The year has been a successful one for Alpha Kappa Pi and will be remembered by them as the year when the chapter took on new life. Many of their old and much needed members returned to school after lengthy service in the war, filling the gaps left by those who left for service last spring. During this year of peace-time fraternity life at Wake Forest the chapter has practically obtained their pre-war status, next year they expect to rise to a larger and better fraternity than they were before.

KAPPA ALPHA

THE TAU CHAPTER of Kappa Alpha began the fall semester with strong determination to make the order at Wake Forest grow and flourish during its first year of peacetime fraternity life. Returning veterans were pledged, and they insilted new life into the group. Some of the veterans were former Kappa Alphans, among them: Tommy Owens, Tommy Bland, Dan Josey, Jim Billings, Walter Lewis, Tom Broughton, Walter McKaughn and Bobby Ott. Dr. Jack Nowell, a former member here, returned this year and acted in advisory capacity. Dr. Nowell is connected with the College chemistry department.

In the contest for the best decoration during the Homecoming celebration, Kappa Alpha, with a burst of ingenuity and originality, walked away with the trophy. Adhering to the tradition of their predecessors, Kappa Alpha won the scholarship trophy this year, upholding their record for scholarship on the campus.

In intramural athletic competition the fraternity did much better than the record shows. Fielding a well balanced basketball quintet, Kappa Alpha finished the season with more victories than defeats. All the games lost by the team were by a close score. Tom Broughton ran up a total of sixty-four points in five contests, and the entire team set the best record of any competing team in defense and offense.

Tau Chapter placed David Nowell in the Student Legislature and Johnny Greene on the Student Council. Harry Carpenter, model initiate at the Lee Banquet, was elected to the position of secretary of the Freshman class.

While striving to uphold their record of scholarship, the men of Kappa Alpha by no means neglected their social life this year. Pan-Hellenic Council dances, private dances and parties were enjoyed by the men of this group throughout the year. Pan-Hellenic Council functions of the year were Homecoming, Christmas and Spring dances. In spite of the difficulties which confronted the council, they were successful in presenting dances which were of a higher caliber than those presented by the council during the war years. In the fall the men of Kappa Alpha joined with Kappa Sigma to present a dance after the Presbyterian game. This party was an example of the success that could be achieved. When the council was forced to call off the annual midwinters, Kappa Alpha joined with three other fraternities to present a dance in the Virginia Dare Ballroom of the Sir Walter Hotel in Raleigh. This formal dance went off well and, although it lacked the color of former midwinter affairs, it served to keep the date from passing without any type of social function. The dance of the year for the Pan-Hellenic Council was the spring frolics, with music furnished by Sully Mason and his band.

In reviewing a year's history of Tau Chapter of Kappa Alpha it can easily be seen that the order has grown in size, unity, and quality of membership. She has captured numerous honors throughout the year and laid the framework for further advancement of her ideals. Pledging was done in such a manner that the men which are to represent her in years to come will be capable of carrying on her noble traditions.

KAPPA SIGMA

MOVING to their new house on Faculty Avenue at the beginning of the fall semester, the Delta Omega Chapter of Kappa Sigma has enjoyed one of the chapter's most progressive years. Well can they be proud of their new house as they were one of the first to buy their own house and move off the campus. Founded on the Wake Forest campus in 1938, the chapter has grown steadily in spite of the war period. The return of such former members as Raoul Trudell, Eli Galloway, Jack Acree, Dave Friday, and pledges Dennis Presnell, Al Copeland, Alex McClellan and Walt Wadsworth brought additional strength to the chapter.

Wearers of the crescent and the star were active in almost every phase of campus activity. H. D. Mabe, president of the chapter, served as president of the student body and was elected to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. Richard Brinkley served as a member of the Editorial Council of the Old Gold and Black. Bob Gragan, Paul Allsbrook and Jesse Glasgow were also on the staff of the student newspaper. Earle Connelly and Stan Vetter served on the HOWLER staff. Wiley Taylor was president of Phi Delta Omega, honorary pre-law fraternity, in the spring. Rufus Potts and Al Copeland were presidents of the rapidly expanding Veteran's Club, and Hank Garriety and Earle Connelly led the International Relations Club during the year. Dave Harris served as president of the Monogram Club. Ben Cole and Wiley Tatlor were delegates to the State Student Legislature.

Four Kappa Sigs were outstanding members of the Wake Forest football team, Dave Harris, Buck Garrison, Pride Ratterree and Richard Brinkley, each appearing on the starting line-up. Garrison and Harris were selected All-Southern, Harris for the second straight year.

Social activities, an important part of fraternity life, were emphasized with smokers, parties and Pan-Hellenic dances. An open house was held in the fall as faculty members and fellow students were welcomed to the chapter's new house. Homecoming and Christmas dances were on the social calendar for the first semester. When the council cancelled the annual Midwinter dance, the chapter joined with Pi Kappa Alpha, Kappa Alpha and Delta Sigma Phi to hold a private dance. The formal dance, held in the Virginia Dare Ballroom of the Sir Walter Hotel in Raleigh, was the first dance to be held outside of Wake Forest in several years. Setting the Spring Frolics as Kappa Sigma Homecoming Day, the fraternity held a banquet for former members of the Delta Omega Chapter. Alumni also attended the dance, which was considered the best of the year. Music was furnished by Sully Mason and his orchestra.

Kappa Sigma was the largest chapter on the campus for the year. The men which she has chosen during the past year will keep Kappa Sigma in her respected place on the campus and further the principles for which the organization was founded. With the war's end there will be greater efficiency evident in all social organizations, Kappa Sigma can look forward to a successful future.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

FOUNDED on the Wake Forest campus in the fall of 1939, the Gamma Phi Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha continued this year to maintain its position as a leader in the college fraternity system.

With the ending of the war, the chapter found itself confronted with the problems of reconversion to the prewar standard. Returning veterans who had worn the PiKA badge before entering service and the usual influx of new students taxed severely the chapter's housing facilities and presented one of the principal problems of the fall semester. In an effort to remedy the situation, the chapter endeavored to purchase a suitable residence in the town, but failing, conserved all available space in order to accommodate its men.

PiKA members continued during the term to take an active part in campus extra-curricular activities. Milton Marney served as secretary-treasurer of the student body, while Carroll Worthington served as sophomore class representative to the student council. Sam Behrends, who returned to the campus in January, was a member of the Old Gold and Black staff.

In intra-fraternity athletics, PiKA members this year were awarded the trophy for winning top honors in the basketball competition. Composing the team were Stivender, Boles, Nance, McLeod, and Henderson. The PiKA's were second place in the football race. The chapter placed three men on all-star football selection, and two on the all-star basketball team.

Included among the chapter's social activities during the course of the term was a Tri-Pi fraternity ball held at the high school gymnasium following the Presbyterian game in October. Taking part in the dance with Pi Kappa Alpha were Sigma Pi and Alpha Kappa Pi.

Reviving a tradition established before the war, the fraternity this year named Miss Betty Stansbury as PiKA Dream Girl of 1945-46. The formal announcement of the selection was made at a party honoring her, given at the conclusion of the Tri-Pi Ball. In April, members of the chapter attended as a group a PiKA Ball held at State College, Raleigh. Sponsored by the State Chapter of PiKA, the ball was attended by members from State, Wake Forest, Carolina and Duke. The chapter also participated in social events sponsored during the year by the Pan-Hellenic Council.

Three PiKA members, Milton Marney, John Bruno and Carroll Worthington held places on the varsity football team during the year, Jim Doyle served as team manager and William Behm as squad trainer.

Having held her position as one of the leading chapters on the Wake Forest campus throughout the war period, Pi Kappa Alpha began her climb this year toward the strength and prestige which the group enjoyed before the war.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

THIS HAS BEEN an unusual year in the development of North Carolina Zeta. With a much enlarged chapter, due to many former members having returned from service, and the pledging of many new men, there appeared in the year an acute housing shortage. The members took over one of the town residences and after extensive redecoration they moved in in the fall of the year. In addition to this the members living in the chapter's section of Simmons doubled up and put three men to a room. With the great influx of new students the dining facilities of the town were taxed to the maximum and in an effort to alleviate this situation several members of the chapter: Archie Nesbitt, president; Fred Hofmann, past-president; and Dick Griffin, treasurer; took time off from their already heavy schedules of college work and extra-curricular activities to lead the establishment of the first fraternity owned and operated dining hall on the Wake Forest Campus.

In addition to the ones mentioned, the officers were: Bill McLean, First vice president; Jim Hobbs, second vice president; Rogers Chenault, secretary; Buddy King, historian; Dick Callimore, pledge-master; with Paul Canady and Jack Gregory serving consecutively as comptroller.

The chapter had more than its share of campus leaders in all phases of activities. Three of the major publication offices were held by members of the chapter, Sig. Eps. Dick Griffin and Bill McLean were Co-editors of the 1946 HOWLER, Bob Robbins was Business Manager of the HOWLER, and Bill King served as Business Manager of the Old Gold and Black. Fred Hofmann held the highest fraternity office on the campus, that of president of the Pan-Hellenic Council. In Athletics Hank Lougee and Rogers Chenault were captains respectively of the Basketball and Track teams, Pop Ange held a position on the Basketball squad. The chapter was well represented on the Varsity Baseball team: Star pitcher Jake Pearce, with support from Hank Lougee, third baseman, and Clyde Whitener as right fielder.

In the field of religious activities Rogers Chenault was director of the Baptist Training Union. The chapter was well represented in the dramatic program, Jim Hobbs and Dick Griffin serving as presidents of the Little Theater during the year. Jim Hobbs also had parts in the major productions of the year. Dick Griffin served as president of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity. Bill McLean was the president of Gamma Nu Iota, honorary pre-medical fraternity. The chapter was represented by two officers of the Veteran's Club, Ernest Chappell and Dick Mitchell.

The spring semester was opened with the formation of an alumni board composed of many outstanding graduates of Wake Forest College, and men of state and national importance: Mr. Willis Smith, President of American Bar Association; LeRoy Martin, Vice President of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company of Raleigh; Mr. Hearne Swink, Vice President of Cannon Mills, Kannapolis; Walter J. Wyatt, Jr., Henry Broadus Jones and Dr. George C. Mackie, members of the Wake Forest faculty; Bedford Black, student in the Law School. This is the first such group formed on the Wake Forest campus and will go far to further the interests of the fraternity at Wake Forest and in the state.

The fraternity took an active interest in the intramural Athletic Program of the fraternities, though our teams were not the winners they were among the top teams. The basketball team played local high schools.

The social calendar this year was very much like those of pre-war days. It was opened by the annual Homecoming dance, and following shortly came a cabin party after the Presbyterian game.

The Christmas dance was accompanied by a chapter party on Friday night in a yuletide decorated frat house. With the Pan-Hellenic Councils Mid-winter dances cancelled the chapter held a picnic on the golf course and a private dance with the music of Al Millman and his orchestra. The social season was climaxed by a chapter cabin party and the Pan-Hellenic Council's Spring dance in the Memorial Auditorium in Raleigh, with music furnished by Sully Mason's orchestra. This has been indeed a banner year in the growth of North Carolina Zeta, with this as only a small beginning of the future development of the chapter.

SIGMA PI

THE INCREASED enrollment of the college during the 1945-46 school year found the Sigma Pi brothers doing their part to alleviate the strain of rooming shortage. With returning veterans and new pledges to the house, the chapter placed three men in the double rooms of Simmons dormitory section. The year was one of reconversion from war to peacetime, and leading the chapter through the transitional period were: first semester, Charlie Choate, president; Paul Lewis, vice president; Brantley Jolly, secretary; and Mark McLean, treasurer; second semester, Paul Lewis, president; Truett Tanner, vice president; Herbie Appenzeller, secretary; Tom Darden, treasurer.

The Sigma Pi's were well represented in extra-curricular activities and had many prominent campus leaders. Dewey Hobbs was a star football player, president of the Baptist Student Union, and representative to both Student Council and Student Legislature. Eddie Folk was a member of the Editorial Council of the Old Gold and Black and a member of the varsity tennis team. Herbie Appenzeller was a member of both varsity football and track teams, he was also a representative to the Student Legislature. Wade Vannoy and Woodie Woodall were delegates to the State Student Legislature, held at Raleigh in December. Wade Vannoy served as president of Phi Delta Omega, honorary pre-law fraternity the first semester. Snow Holding was president of the Freshman Class, also served on the Student Legislature.

Homecoming Day marked the start of the fraternity social life, with the annual Homecoming dance being held in Wake Forest. Several weeks later the chapter joined Pi Kappa Alpha and Alpha Kappa Pi in presenting the Tri-Pi dance at the high school gym. With the Pan-Hellenic Councils annual Midwinter dance cancelled, the pledge joined Alpha Kappa Pi in a dance at the Sir Walter Hotel in Raleigh, featuring the music of Russ Carlton and his orchestra. Frank Wright played the night before for this group in the high school.

The Spring Frolics were observed by the fraternity with a chapter party on Friday night and the Pan-Hellenic Council dance at the Memorial Auditorium in Raleigh. Saturday night Sully Mason and his orchestra furnished the music.

In the field of intramural sports, the chapter won the football trophy.

DELTA SIGMA PHI

BETA LAMBDA CHAPTER of Delta Sigma Phi had a rebirth during the second semester of this year. The armed forces had taken the men of the chapter almost one hundred per cent, but this year they were back. These men met this spring to reorganize their group and try to mold it into the strong campus organization which it had been before they left. Elbert Ford was elected president of the chapter, and led the fraternity in its effort to secure pledges and rent a house to be used as their headquarters. The job which faced these men was difficult but not impossible, as they have shown.

A two room house was rented near the campus which provided the fraternity with the necessary chapter rooms for meetings and social gatherings. The house was in need of repair and it was necessary for the group to renovate it. The members accomplished the repairs in time for the Spring Frolics.

The fraternity joined with the Pan-Hellenic Council in the dances given in the spring. Aside from council functions the chapter joined with Kappa Sigma, Kappa Alpha and Pi Kappa Alpha in presenting a dance at midwinters.

Well on the road to recovery from its wartime inactivity Delta Sigma Phi has come a long way toward becoming the strong group which it was before the war.

ZETA CHI

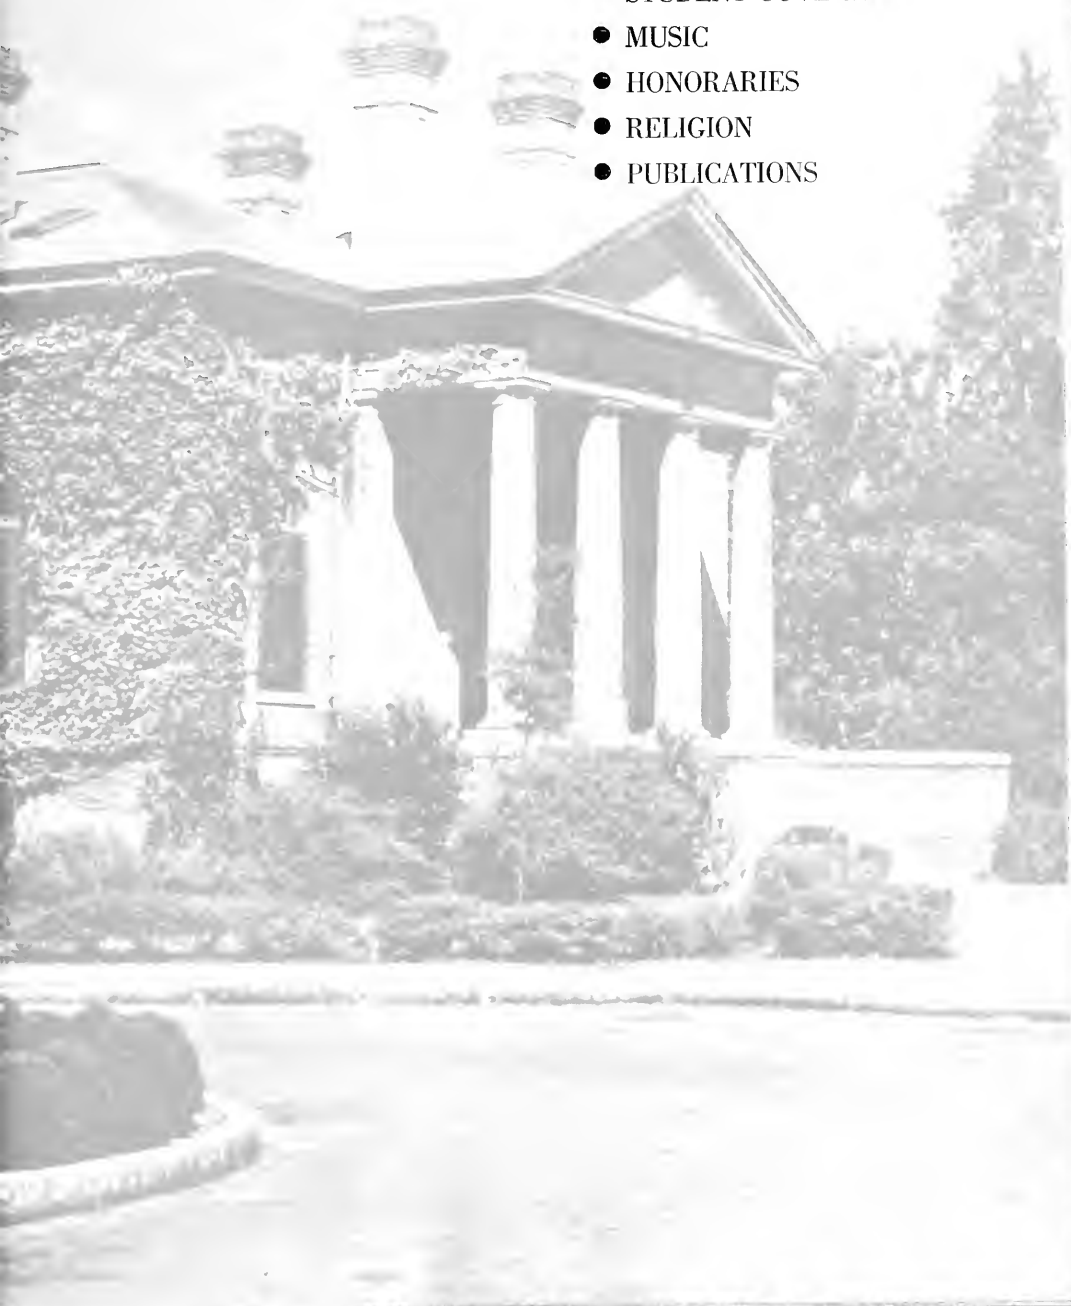

THE OLD ESQUIRE CLUB which was formerly one of the social organizations on the Wake Forest campus was revived late this spring as Zeta Chi local fraternity. The fraternity was forced to become inactive just as the war broke out because of the enlistment of all of the members into the Armed Forces. The chapter plans to become a national chapter under another name next year.

Zeta Chi will become functional as a Pan-Hellenic Council member at the beginning of the Summer school. The charter officers are George Anderson as president, Jim Ayers as vice president, and Bruce Morgan as secretary-treasurer. Other charter members are Claude McClure, Bill Biggerstaff, Sidney Martin, and Dean Hamrick. Professor Thane MacDonald, head of the Music Department, Mr. E. B. Earnshaw, College Bursar, and Reverend Eugene I. Olive, College Chaplain, will serve as faculty advisers.

The group includes several of the former members of the Esquire Club. The Esquire Club was formed here at Wake Forest in 1941 and remained an active local for two years. They occupied the third floor of Bostwick dormitory until they disbanded in 1943.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS TAKE ON NEW LIFE

This year has witnessed a new growth of interest in extra-curricular activities, the influx of veterans has filled most of the campus groups to overflowing. The Veterans Club has become one of the most important campus activities and has continued to grow through the year with the entrance of more veterans.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

THE STUDENT COUNCIL, the principal organization through which Wake Forest students govern themselves, is held responsible for the maintenance of order and good conduct among members of the student body and for the general upholding of Wake Forest College traditions.

Members are elected to the council by the vote of fellow students, and the organization has as its president the annually-electd head of the student body.

Generally acceded to be the most important of campus organizations, the Student Council has as one of its principal functions the direction of orientation work among new students at the beginning of each term. It attempts to instill in newcomers a respect for college traditions, to encourage among them friendliness and speaking habits, and to acquaint them with the workings and advantages of the student honor system.

The council also has as a prime duty the enforcement of all student regulations and the punishment of violations of the campus code of ethics. As a legislative body, the council drafts the laws governing student conduct; as a protective body, it directs the enforcement of these laws; as a judicial body, it punishes violators of the regulations. The group settles all difficulties that may arise among students, or between students and townspeople. It coöperates with the college administration in all matters pertaining to student conduct, and through coöperation with the faculty, enforces respect for the honor system.

Heading the council as president during the school year of 1945-46 was H. D. Mabe, Jr., pre-medical senior from Kinston.

The council continued this year the practice instituted in 1944 of sponsoring bi-weekly parties to provide week-end recreation for student body members. Held regularly at the Wake Forest Community House, the events provided dancing and games for students attending.

STUDENT LEGISLATURE

THE STUDENT LEGISLATURE is the one Wake Forest organization which stays completely behind the scenes except in cases which involve the amending or passing of laws. The group was formed by the Student Council in 1923 and has served the college for the past twenty or more years.

The purpose of the Student Legislature is to pass laws and to amend previously passed laws in order to better the student government of the college. The Legislature is composed of the presidents of each of the four classes and a representative from the ministerial association. The meetings of this group are presided over by the president of the senior class, a position held this year by Luther Morphis.

The only important function of the group this year was the amendment of the constitution concerning student body offices. The office of Secretary-Treasurer was divided into two separate offices. The Legislature takes a personal interest in all proposals advanced by the students of the campus. If an idea for better government is presented by a member of the student body it is considered carefully by the Legislature.

WOMEN'S GOVERNMENT

THE FOUR-YEAR-OLD Women's Government Association had as its aim this year the establishment of a foundation upon which a strong Association could be built for the future. As a result of the endeavors of the members of the Executive Board, a more adequate and thorough constitution was adopted by the Association, whose membership consisted of all co-eds enrolled. Two Booklets were distributed among the members, one containing the rules and regulations governing the co-eds, while the other had suggestions regarding the social conduct of the co-eds.

The Executive Board of the Association gained three new members: the chairman of the newly formed Social Standards committee, the representative of the house presidents and a freshman representative.

The officers of the Executive Board at the beginning of the fall semester were: President Sallie Vaughn, Vice President Anne Johns, Secretary Mary Lee James, and Treasurer Eugenia Johnson.

With the graduation of Sallie Vaughn at the end of the fall semester, Anne Johns took over the leadership of the Association.

It was the policy of the Executive Board to fulfill its duties without prejudice, with fairness, and for the best interests of the school and the members of the Association; and to establish a precedent that the co-eds of the future could follow. The Executive Board acted not only as a judicial body but also sponsored social functions throughout the year.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT ACTIVITIES

THE SPRING SEMESTER, 1946, found Mr. Thanes McDonald back at his post of Director of Music after 20 months service in the U. S. Navy. Mr. McDonald had assumed the directorship in September of 1941 just after the first regularly organized Music Department at Wake Forest College had been set up in 1939 by Mr. Donald Pfohl. Mr. McDonald brought to the college for the first time a girl's sextet, a mixed glee club, the institution of the All-Campus Sing, the "Music Hour," the Octet, and a little Symphony Orchestra.

Miss Albertaine Lefler took over the duties of Acting Director with the Summer Session of 1944. Miss Lefler, a graduate of Greensboro College, was instructing in the Raleigh High Schools when asked to fill the vacant position at Wake Forest. She upheld the standards set up during the period of Mr. McDonald's directorship prior to his entrance into service. Despite the decrease in enrollment Miss Lefler was able to continue most of the musical groups throughout the war.

GLEE CLUB

The fall of 1945 found the Glee Club organized with 108 voices, with Miss Lucy Rawlings as accompanist and Miss Lefler directing. In the fall a short concert was presented at the regular chapel hour, and in November the club rendered two numbers for the North Carolina Baptist State Convention in Raleigh at the Memorial Auditorium. Their season was climaxed with the Annual Christmas Vesper Program on which they sang Nevin's Cantata, "The Adoration," and the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah."

Mr. McDonald assumed the direction of the Glee Club in the Spring Semester. The Club, composed then of 100 voices and with Miss Rawlings continuing as accompanist, made its first appearance for an evening service during Religious Focus Week. Following this there was presented a short program in Chapel, and in the spring the Club gave a guest concert at the Raleigh Garden Club's annual State-wide exhibit. Their season was climaxed by the annual spring campus concert in which two of the featured numbers were "Gloria" from Mozart's 12th Mass and the "Seraphic Hymn" Rubinstein, which in turn featured Miss Millie Barnes as soloist.

BAND

THE BAND, under Miss Lefler's baton played for all the home games of Wake's Demon Deacons and also went to the State game in Raleigh and the Carolina game in Chapel Hill. Miss Sophia Webb, the original majorette of Wake Forest, and Horace Hall carried the strutting honors as Lynn Leddon, drum major, gave drill orders and led the band.

In addition to the regular schedule of events, the band gave guest appearances in the Victory Bond Drive held in Raleigh, and at the Wilson-Rocky Mount high school football game. In the spring, the regular concert was given, including on its program; finale from "The New World" Symphony Dvorak, and the "Barber of Seville" Rossini.

OTHER "NOTES OF MUSIC"

In the spring Mr. McDonald reorganized an octet of men and a sextet of women.

The Sextet featured Miss June Freeman as vocal soloist, Miss Lefler as the featured piano soloist. They were presented as guest artists for a number of out-of-town events, well representing the College. The octet likewise made several appearances at events not connected with the College where they too carried the fame of Wake Forest with their fine presentations.

VETERANS CLUB

LED BY RUFUS POTTS who served as president during the fall semester and Alvaro Copeland, president for the spring term, the Veteran's Club grew this year from a tiny group into one of Wake Forest's largest and most active organizations.

The club has been instrumental in giving every assistance in orienting and advising veterans returning to college or coming for the first time. At the beginning of the second semester, when more than two hundred former service men entered school, a housing bureau was formed by the Veteran's Club to assist these men in locating rooms. The clubroom in the upstairs of the Social Science Building also gave the ex G.I.'s a place to relax and talk with men of similar ideas and background.

Last year the club raised a fund to furnish a library for the S. S. Wake Forest Victory, the Maritime Commission's liberty ship named in honor of the college, and last fall the naval gun crew aboard the ship requested pictures of Miss Wake Forest and other co-eds for the decoration of their recreation room. A popularity contest was sponsored by the club to determine which girls' pictures should be sent to the sailors. Miss Ruth Blount, senior from Salisbury, was voted Miss Wake Forest and her picture, along with photographs of fifteen other co-eds, was rushed to the seamen.

Keen interest in the club has been evidenced throughout the year. President Al Copeland and program chairman Dick Mitchell consistently presented excellent programs featuring distinguished speakers, well informed on subjects of interest to the veterans.

The social life of the club has not been neglected. The ex-soldiers, sailors, marines, and flyers were feted at two dances, one given in early February and the other later in the spring. Another outstanding event was the club smoker which featured several high calibre boxing and wrestling matches.

The Veterans Club, first organized in the fall of 1944, has become one of the outstanding organizations on the campus.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

THE AIM OF THE International Relations Club is to foster a better understanding of international happenings. Having become almost inactive during the spring of 1945, the club started out slowly in the fall, but under the direction of Hank Garrity new members were taken in and the club took on new activity. In the spring of the year the club took charge of one chapel program and presented two talks on the United Nations Organization. Bill Roberson and Hank Garrity presented the subject. Programs of the spring were highlighted by an address by Dr. L. Owens Rea, who spoke to the club on the Bretton Woods Agreement and international trade.

The International Relations Club is endowed by the Carnegie Foundation for World Peace. From this source the club receives books, pamphlets, and bi-monthly foreign policy reports. Programs of the club are drawn largely from this material which contains authoritative and vital international news. Programs usually consist of speeches by two or more members on some subject of interest after which a round table discussion is held by the club. In this way the club hopes to attain a better understanding of world affairs.

Hank Garrity served as president in the fall and Earle Connelly in the spring.

PHILOMATHESIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

THE PHILOMATHESIAN LITERARY SOCIETY, twin member of a team which has played a tremendous part in the 112-year-old history of Wake Forest College, successfully continued its leadership in campus cultural and literary life.

Principal success achieved by the society during the year was the winning of both the oratorical and debate cups in the annual Society Day event held during the fall. The organization thus retained possession of the trophies, for the second year.

James Mattox won the annual oration contest, held during student assembly, with an address entitled "Our Common Heritage." Arnold Smith and Hank Garrity represented the society in the winning of the debate award.

Although faculty members and visiting speakers addressed the society upon several occasions during the year, the majority of the programs were given by Phi members. Heard were impromptu talks and debates, round table discussions, and speeches on current events, foreign policy, and topics of literary and scientific interest.

Phi membership underwent a sizable increase during the course of the year, and the society boasted 80 active members at the close of the term. Several former Phi's who had left school to enter military service returned to the society following their discharge and return to Wake Forest.

Gene Medlin headed the organization as president during the fall semester, while Crate Jones served as president during the spring term.

EUZELIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

BOASTING a peak membership throughout the year, the Euzelian Literary Society continued during the 1945-46 school term to uphold its long-time tradition of instructing Wake Forest students in oratorical and literary pursuits.

William P. Smith presided over the society meetings and headed the planning of society activities during the fall semester. Miss Nancy Easley, daughter of Dr. J. A. Easley of the college religion department, was chosen as Eu president during the spring elections, thus becoming the first woman to hold a literary society presidency in the history of the school.

In the annual Society Day events, Harold Costen and Perry Martin debated for the Euzelians, while Leldon Kirk and Martin represented the society in the oratorical competition.

Dr. Hubert Poteat, a Euzelian and former president of the organization, continued during the year his annual reading of Marc Connelly's The Green Pastures. His audience, the largest since the readings were begun, overflowed the society hall and filled the corridor. A number of students heard the reading from positions on the stairway.

Euzelian programs, presented by the society members except for occasional guest speakers, featured this year a mock radio program and a music appreciation hour. Society members engaged in impromptu debates and orations during other Eu programs.

LITTLE THEATER

WITH THE ROLLING in of this spring, the Wake Forest College Little Theater celebrated its fifth birthday. The members and pledges have embarked on their fifth consecutive year of successful dramatic productions. With lack of stage, equipment, and furniture, the playmakers worked from nothingness, yet grew in a very short time into a well organized group staging excellent and well-polished productions. Through the coöperation of the high school, townspeople, and college, furniture was made from old clothes by the costume committee. It was practically impossible to buy electrical equipment, so the electrician was forced to make the most of what he had.

There were difficulties and obstacles in the path of the actors, but the standard of this year's productions was upheld. For the first time three one-act plays composed the summer productions which were presented in the auditorium of the Music-Religion Building. All through the year there has been a growing bond of unity among the dramatists and an effort to interest all the student body in one of the most thriving organizations on the campus. For the first time the Little Theater group is composed of members who have been to dramatic schools in New York, Rhode Island, members who have studied interior decorating, and make-up techniques and experienced directors.

Membership is based on the point system. To become a pledge one must have worked in some phase of production—acting, publicity, make-up, staging, or anything which aids a production. When a person acquires five points he is a pledge. After enough work has been done to acquire forty points the pledge becomes a full fledged member of the Little Theater. Meetings are held twice a month and members are required to attend or lose their points and membership. For the past semester the meetings have consisted of interesting one-act plays thereby giving more experience to actors and directors, and more interest to the group as a whole.

Officers for last summer were: president, Richard Griffin; vice president, Sibyl Jolly; secretary, Roger Jackson; treasurer, Tom Arrington; parliamentarian, Jerry Inscope.

Jeanne Wall was elected president for the fall semester.

The plays presented were: The Silver Cord, Spring '45; The Lay Figure, The Peacemakers, The Hour Glass, Summer '45; One Mad Night, Fall '45.

THE SILVER CORD, Spring 1945

Directed by Alice Holliday

This was the story of an eccentric mother, Mrs. Phelps, who was determined to keep the love of her two sons for herself regardless of the price of unhappiness and suffering brought to others. She succeeded in breaking the engagement of her younger son Robert to Hester, but David, realizing the kind of woman his mother was, took his bride away from the house before Mrs. Phelps had warped his mind.

THE HOUR-GLASS, Summer 1945

Directed by Jeanne Wall

The Hour-Glass is a morality play depicting the Wise Man who represents reason without faith. The Wise-Man is warned by an angel that he must die when the sands of the hour-glass run out, and his soul will be lost unless before that time he has found one person who believes in God. The Wise-Man searches in vain. Neither his wife, children, or pupils believe. Finally the Fool who is mostly concerned with foolish things tells the Wise-Man that he believes.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA

THE LITTLE THEATER of Wake Forest College was granted a charter of Alpha Psi Omega on April 1, 1943. The Eta Nu cast from Meredith College under the direction of Miss Frances Bailey installed the Theta Omega cast of Wake Forest College.

The Thespians who wander around the campus calling each other "Worthy Playmaker" or "Honorable Thespian" are the colleges leading dramatists or members of Alpha Psi Omega. It is the aspiration of all the pledges or Little Theater members whether they be actors, actresses, make-up artist, prompters, or technical crew men to gain membership in the Theta Omega "cast." Membership in Alpha Psi Omega is the highest dramatic achievement on campus and it is gained by the point system, with points being given for any work contributing toward a dramatic production. Sixty points are required for membership, twenty more than are required for the Little Theater. The pledge period is one of fright for the pledges not only because of the extensive memory work in the field of Shakespeare and the Greek alphabet, but also because they are under complete obedience of the "Worthy playmakers." However, once the initiation is over and the "lowly pledges" are full-fledged Thespians, they remember the pledge period as one of great delight.

Sibyl Jolly was president during the summer session of 1945. Richard Griffin, III, was elected president during the fall semester.

GAMMA NU IOTA

FOUNDED on the Wake Forest Campus during the fall of 1937, the Alpha Chapter of Gamma Nu Iota this year successfully continued its work of representing the large number of pre-medical students in the student body.

The organization has as its purpose the stimulation of interest in the medical field and the creation of a coöperative spirit among the future physicians of the campus.

The outstanding act carried out by the fraternity during the year was a pledge to donate $100 annually to the college for the founding of a pre-medical library at Wake Forest. The biology department of the college registered its appreciation of the action by agreeing to match the amount given by Gamma Nu Iota members each year.

Leading the organization as president during the fall semester was Robert Hester. Eugenia Johnson served as vice president during the term; Crenshaw Thompson as secretary; and James Deaton as treasurer. Officers for the spring semester were William McLean, Jr., president; Helen Hales, vice president; Radford Butler, secretary; and Barbara Bingham, treasurer.

In an effort to increase the interest inside the organization, a plan was evolved during the year whereby members should present the programs during the bi-monthly Thursday evening meetings. Programs on scientific topics were presented, with special emphasis on wartime medical achievements.

Dr. O. C. Bradbury, biology department head and principal counselor for pre-medical students continued to act as fraternity adviser.

SIGMA PI ALPHA

UNDER the leadership of Lanneau Newton, the Epsilon Chapter of Sigma Pi Alpha, honorary modern language fraternity, this year completed its 15th year of activity on the Wake Forest Campus.

Having as its purpose the creation of interest in the affairs, customs, and languages of foreign nations and the promotion of better understanding among the nations of the year, at which time French, Spanish, and South American art, literature, and life were discussed.

The outstanding feature of the year's activity was the participation by the chapter in the annual Sigma Pi Alpha congress and banquet, held at Raleigh on April 13. In addition to Wake Forest members, representatives from seven other North Carolina colleges attended the event.

Serving with Newton as officers of the organization during the year were Rebecca Brown, vice president; Mary Frances Combs, secretary; and Anne Johns, treasurer.

Miss Lois Johnson, professor of French, and Miss Nell Downtin, professor of Spanish, served during the year as faculty advisers for the fraternity. Miss Downtin became associated with the group during the 1944-45 school year, when Spanish students were admitted to the fraternity membership by the unanimous vote of the chapter.

Membership in Sigma Pi Alpha, limited to two per cent of the student body, is based upon scholarship, character, and interest and aptitude in foreign languages.

ETA SIGMA PHI

UNDER THE DIRECTION of William Smith throughout the entire year, Eta Sigma Phi has fulfilled their object, to promote interest on the campus in classical literature and life. The club meets once each month to discuss topics of interest to classical language students.

Elections to membership are held each spring. In order to be eligible for membership the candidate must be of junior or senior standing and have maintained at least an "A" or "B" average on twelve hours of Greek or Latin. Those who meet this requirement must have the recommendation of the head of the Greek or Latin department. After the new members are chosen the club holds a banquet in their honor.

PHI DELTA OMEGA

WITH THE RETURN of many former members of Phi Delta Omega, among them Ben N. Cole, one of the founders, this organization has returned to its pre-war status on the Wake Forest Campus. Attempting to prepare pre-law students for Law School, this club has fulfilled its objective in the school year of 1945-46.

In the fall the chief accomplishment of the club was its all-out program of reorganization. A new constitution was drawn up and ratified by the club. A number of its members participated in the 9th annual Student Legislature held in Raleigh.

In the spring the club was successful in obtaining speakers who were of great help to the pre-law students. Dr. Robert E. Lee, newly elected Dean of the Wake Forest Law School, spoke to the club and advised them on courses of importance to law students. Dr. Lee also took the club through the law library and gave these men an idea of what was facing them in law school. Professor Edgar W. Timberlake gave the club a lecture of briefing cases.

Under the direction of Wade Vannoy in the fall and Wiley Taylor in the spring, the club has enjoyed its most successful year since the war began.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

THE BAPTIST STUDENT UNION, which has as its duties the fostering and coördination of all religious activities on the Wake Forest Campus, found its tasks greatly increased during the current year by the coming of many new students and the return to the campus of a considerable number of discharged war veterans.

The B.S.U. which has as its slogan, "In our halls of learning, Christ you would instill," meets each Sunday evening following the conclusion of worship services to plan the weekly religious program.

Operating under the supervision of the B.S.U. during the year were five Sunday school classes led by Superintendent Luther Morphis; four training unions and one forum group under the direction of James Mattox; the Young Women's Association directed by Martha Ballard; and the daily evening vesper services conducted by Richard Kelly. The Christian Service Group, the Ministerial Conference, and the Religious Education Club also were under the guidance of the organization.

Outstanding among B.S.U. activities during the school year was the attendance of 40 Wake Forest delegates at the State B.S.U. convention at Salisbury during the fall. Members of the organization also attended during the year a meeting of the newly organized B.S.U. Council at Shaw University, Raleigh. Frequent "open house" events were also sponsored by the group during the course of the term.

Probably the most active week of the year for members of the group was that in which the annual Religious Focus services were held on the Campus. Dewey Hobbs, B.S.U. president during the year, served as chairman for the event which saw a team of 13 ministers and religious leaders on the Campus for special services, classroom visitations and individual conferences.

The B.S.U. contributed during the term to the World Student Service Fund, a campaign for finances to aid needy college and university students in war-torn countries throughout the world.

YOUNG WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

THE PURPOSE of the Young Women's Auxiliary is to instill and develop Christian principles among its membership. During the past year the club has shown considerable advancement, not only in enrollment but in activity.

There were six circles, under the direction of Billie Barnes, Sarah Miles, Margaret Waycaster, Minda Kennedy, Wilhelmina Wallace and Patricia Hemdon. Miss Kathryn Abree, state leader of the Young Women's Auxiliary, attended the first meeting of the year and aided in the organization of the group. Meetings of the club were held twice monthly, with one circle meeting and one general meeting.

During the past year Martha Ballard served as president of the group, leading it in various activities encompassing many phases of Christian endeavor. A mission study course, "Epochs in Home Missions," was taught during the spring by Miss Vena Aguiard, missionary to French-speaking people in Louisiana. The club undertook many such enterprises in order to understand the problems of Christian Education.

MINISTERIAL CONFERENCE

THE CULLOM MINISTERIAL CONFERENCE, named in honor of Dr. W. R. Cullom, professor emeritus of religion, added during the school year 1945-46 to its long list of services in behalf of the Wake Forest ministerial student.

Having as its aim the promotion of a spirit of brotherhood among the future ministers of the campus, the conference held weekly meetings throughout the year. Outstanding leaders in State and Southern Baptist circles continued, as in the past, to address the regular Tuesday evening sessions.

William Smith led the organization as president during the fall semester. Serving with him were Harold Steen and Talmadge Smith, vice presidents; E. U. Hoover and Henry Napier, secretaries; and Racine Brown, treasurer. Crate Jones, transfer student from Mars Hill, served as group president during the spring term. Assisting him in the remaining conference offices were Phillip Hutchinson and Charles Summey, vice presidents; Harold Anderson, secretary; and Johnnie Travitt, treasurer.

Dr. J. Allen Easley, professor of religion, continued to act during the year as adviser to the group.

The principal social event sponsored by the conference in the course of the term was the annual "Prophet's Frolic," a formal banquet held in early spring. The ministerial group also held an informal party prior to the Christmas holidays, and had charge of two student assembly services during the year.

CHRISTIAN SERVICE GROUP

THE OBJECT of the Christian Service Group is to plan and carry through projects of help to the Negroes and the poor. The group met every other Sunday to give help and Christian instruction to needy. These men and women believe practical religion to be of more help to mankind than the inspiring messages issued from the pulpit which often do not reach those who need inspiration most.

DELTA KAPPA ALPHA

DELTA KAPPA ALPHA was founded in 1932, on the Wake Forest Campus by a group of ministerial students who felt that they would prepare themselves better for their life work if they were bound together by a more coöperative and fraternal spirit.

Meeting once each month the group holds programs which are of help and interest to future ministers. In the latter part of the year the group enjoyed talks by leading Baptist Ministers of the South. In general the programs are intended to give the students an insight into what they will be faced with when they have finished their training and have gone forth to answer their calling.

William Smith has served as president of the fraternity during the year and has led the group in its activity. Dr. C. B. Earp has been faculty adviser to the club throughout the year and has been of great help to the club in advising them in their policies.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION CLUB

THE AIM OF THE RELIGIOUS EDUCATION CLUB is to promote unity among the future workers in religious education and to relate the practical side of the work to the theoretical. To attain this goal the club has met monthly at which time a program was presented which dealt with some phase of practical religion.

Under the direction of Mary Gay and Wilma Grass the club has almost doubled its enrollment during the past year. To widen the group of students who might participate in the activities of this organization the constitution was amended, allowing any student interested in this type of work to take part in its functions. Before this amendment the candidate for membership was required to be a religious education major.

The club was by no means inactive on the campus. In the fall the club published a student directory which was of great help to the students. A liberal sum was donated by the club for the installment of a series of books on religious education in the Religion Library.

Completing its second year, the Religious Education Club has come much farther in its program of better preparing religious education workers.

CANTERBURY CLUB

THE CANTERBURY CLUB was founded in the spring of 1944, for Episcopalian students going to the college. It has had several dinners and parties during the year. The club this year has been under the direction of Helen Tucker as president. Their adviser is the Rev. Cobey of Louisburg. Their chief discussion in meetings is religion.

RELIGIOUS FOCUS WEEK

FOR THE SECOND successive year, the interest of all on campus was focused on one subject for an entire week—and that subject was religion. Eleven Southern Baptist leaders conducted seminars, spoke in chapel and in evening services, spoke in class, and gave advice to students in private conferences. It was not unusual to see groups having heated discussions in the cafeteria, on the campus, or in the book store—discussions in which such phrases as Christian marriages, practical Christianity, racial equality, and the UNO played important roles.

The aim of the week in the minds of the students seemed to be the discovery of a means of applying religion to their lives—a means of getting away from outmoded religious terminology and finding the practical use for what the church teaches. With unusual insight and understanding of that type of mind possessed only by college students, the leaders, both men and women, spoke to us on the subjects in which we are interested—race, men (to the co-eds), women (to the men), and social problems facing young people generally.

For one lecture period during the week each class was turned over by the professor to one of the team members. Often the students asked that the speaker be allowed to return for another hour of informal questions and answers.

At a party held early in the week, the entire student body was given a chance to meet the team members and see them as they clowned with each other.

At the end of this Focus Week we were convinced that preachers are very human, that religion is something everyone should (and does) have, and that the whole week had been a success. This success was due in great part to the planning and work done by Chairman Dewey Hobbs, president of the B.S.U., and his "Committee of Ninety."

PUBLICATIONS BOARD

THE WAKE FOREST COLLEGE Publications Board, created in 1937 to handle the task of securing competent and qualified leaders for the three chief student publications, this year had as its primary task the guiding of campus publications in the transition from war to peace.

The most significant of the board's accomplishments during the year was its authorization of the revival of The Student, campus literary magazine which was discontinued in 1943. The act was made possible by the sizable increase in student body enrollment during the year, and by the allotment of additional funds for publications use.

The Publications Board has as its principal duty the selection of editors and business managers for each of the student publications. These positions are filled from the list of candidates who, having fulfilled the prescribed qualifications, apply for the offices. The board also has the duty of allotting available funds to the various publications.

Richard W. Griffin, III, co-editor of THE HOWLER, served as board president during the year. John Hall, representing Old Gold and Black, filled the post of secretary.

THE HOWLER

THE FIRST HOWLER was issued in 1903. Its purpose was to portray campus life through pictures. In this, the forty-fourth Wake Forest yearbook, the staff has the same general purpose in mind; it hopes to show all phases of the college so faithfully and vividly that in years to come college days will live again as these pages are turned.

THE HOWLER derived its name from a "tree bulletin" board on which hand written gossip, news, and jokes were posted where all could see them. From that humble source the annual grew.

In the early days the two literary societies had charge of publishing THE HOWLER, and it has been only in recent years that the yearbook became a separate unit. In its steady growth, several general developments are apparent. Many pages have been added as individual pictures were substituted for group photographs. As fraternities came into existence, they have been treated on pages formerly devoted to multitudinous county clubs and boarding clubs. There have come occasionally definite changes of policy as to yearbook editing. This year, we the editors, have made another innovation in annual editing. We have this year felt there has long since been a need to separate and yet more closely relate pictures and textual matter.

The staff of the 1946 HOWLER has tried to give special emphasis to both text and pictures. We have separated these two units in order to emphasize the continuity of the reading matter. We are publishing a more bookish annual so that those who want to read will have each section complete for uninterrupted reading. We have also tried to give this edition a double usefulness as a reference book by including short, pertinent histories of the various campus organizations. The staff has attempted to present the many-sided pageant of Wake Forest College life, to raise a monument to those incidents and individuals that have made this year an unforgettable one.

Through the efforts of our editorial staff, with the help of Mr. Gordon Brightman of the Jahn and Ollier Engraving Company and Mr. John Minter of Edwards & Broughton Co., we hope that our efforts will meet with the approval of all students and that they will treasure this yearbook throughout their lives.

OLD GOLD AND BLACK

OLD GOLD AND BLACK, weekly news organ of the Wake Forest College student body since 1916, emerged during the school year from the wartime period which had as its companions a scarcity of staff members, a shortage of paper, and a weekly four-page edition.

With the beginning of the 1945-46 term, new blood was injected into the paper, as large numbers of veterans found their way onto the campus and co-eds enrolled in ever increasing strength. The year saw, for the most part, a return to the pre-war editions of six pages. Veteran staff members who had left Wake Forest to serve in the armed forces returned to lend their efforts and experience to the enterprise. Ex-servicemen from both Atlantic and Pacific theaters sat down at typewriters and wrote, for Old Gold, stories which in months past had filled front pages in nationally circulated dailies. To publish six pages was comparatively easy, whereas only a year ago the task would have been virtually impossible.

Rather than a single managing editor, Old Gold continued this year the 1944-45 plan of operating with an editorial council of four. Composing the council were Richard Brinkley, Sue Marshall, Eddie Folk, and Bettie Horsley. The group, on a co-operative plan, handled the tasks of locating the news, assigning staff members to report the news, and supplying direction to their efforts, editing the copy when it was submitted, and arranging the composition and make-up of the paper.

Dr. E. E. Folk, head of the college journalism department and long-time adviser for Old Gold, continued to supply much-needed advice throughout the year. Each Wednesday night Dr. Folk remained with the council until the paper was "put to bed," advising and assisting with the editing and headline writing. His tips on possible news and news sources were invaluable.

The efforts to assemble Old Gold continued during the year to be the center of campus interest each Wednesday night. Staff members filled the newspaper office and others typed their copy outside the office, in booths in the Student Center corridor.

MONOGRAM CLUB

THE AIM OF THE MONOGRAM CLUB is to encourage sportsmanship and friendliness among the members of the student body and to build a more fraternal spirit among the athletes of the Wake Forest Campus. During the past year the club has brought to the campus several attractions of interest to the students. Movies of the Wake Forest-Duke, Wake Forest-Tennessee, and the Wake Forest-South Carolina football games were shown to the students in the fall, and in the spring the club sponsored a pre-season intra-squad football game, giving students a preview of the 1946 football game.

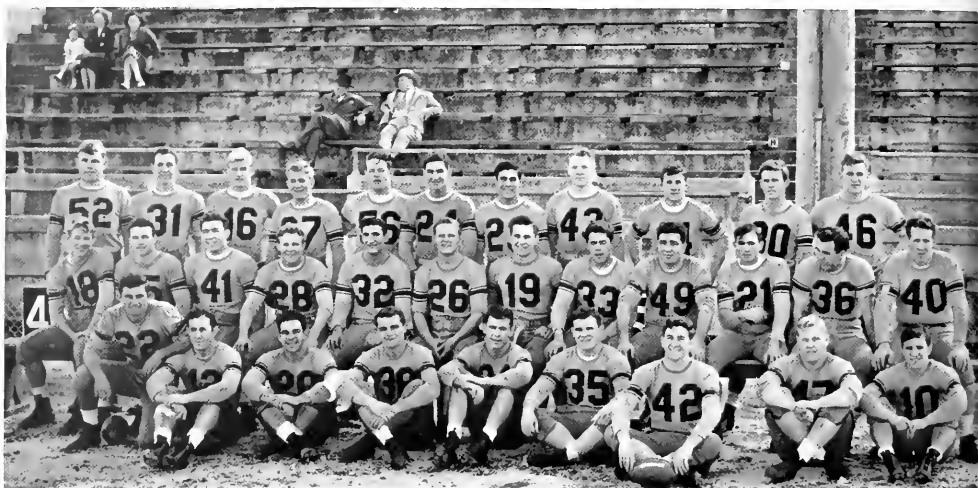

All proceeds of these events went to the furnishing of the new club-room, located in the Student Center. This spacious room has not only served as the scene of the weekly club meetings, but also as a gathering place for these athletes and their friends throughout the week.

The total enrollment of the club is forty, representing football, basketball, baseball and track lettermen. Dave Harris, All-Southern end in 1944 and 1945, served as president during the year, leading the club in its activities.

THE ATHLETIC PROGRAM RETURNS TO NORMAL

With the return of veterans, an enlarged athletic program was in action during the year. The year's sports activities were highlighted by history-making Deacon football and basketball teams, contributing to the year's upsets.

FOR THE FIRST time since the early part of the war, Wake Forest College this year resumed full play in all sports. The football team which made its usual good showing was joined this year by one of the most outstanding basketball teams in several years. Baseball, track, tennis, and golf have had complete schedules, and Wake Forest is well on the way to normal sports activities. There has been a noticeable return of former athletic "greats" to the various fields and they have given a boost to the sports program of the college. Increased man-power for sports line-ups, due to the return of many men from military service, contributed in large measure to the success of many of this year's teams. This has truly been a successful athletic year.

FOOTBALL

THE 1945 EDITION of the Demon Deacons was faced with the toughest schedule that a Wake Forest team has ever been called upon to meet. Their first three games were with a Rose Bowl team, the National Champions, and the Sugar Bowl winner.

The Deacons met this schedule with the fight and determination that has characterized Wake Forest teams in the past. The record shows that the season was marked by close games, three of them being decided by one point.

This year also marked the first year that the Deacons have appeared in a post-season game. They accepted an offer to play in the Gator Bowl, one of the new bowls, in Jacksonville, Florida. The Deacons turned down an invitation to play in the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Texas.

For the second straight year, the Baptist trailed the champion Duke Blue Devils in the final South-Conference standings.

TENNESSEE

THE DEACONS went out to play Tennessee's Rose Bowl team in their opening game. The boys from the Knoxville institution were 19 point favorites, but evidently the Baptists hadn't heard about it or else they were out to give the betting fraternity a visual sermon on the evils of gambling. Anyway, the Deacons made the experts blush by pushing the Vols all over the field before dropping a 7-6 decision.

Nick Sacrinty was the big noise in the Foresters attack, being hotter than anything but the temperature which was up in the nineties. He was the one who kept the Vols back on their heels with his brilliant running and passing. It was Nick who engineered the 70-yard drive in the last few minutes of play that saved the Deacons from being blanked. However, it would be impossible to over-estimate the importance of the Deacon forward wall in this terrific struggle. Most of the linesmen played the entire game.

After being outplayed for over three quarters, the Vols finally started to roll in the final 10 minutes. Using a continuous string of reserves to wear down the visitors, they got their ground attack going finally sending Dick Lund around their right end for six yards and a touchdown. Stephenson came in and added the vital seventh point.

This was the sign for the Deacons to put on the steam. Nick Sacrinty started the ball rolling by taking the kick-off behind his goal line and returning it to the 30. He and Brinkley took turns pushing the ball up the field, sandwiching in a pass to Bruno.

After hitting the line three times without success, Brinkley went over on the fourth try behind terrific blocking.

ARMY

THE CADETS of the Military Academy proved to be rude hosts as they handed the visiting Deacons a 54-0 licking. The contest, which was played in a continuous rain, was never close after the Cadets got their hands on the ball three times, for by that time the nation's number one team had a 14-0 lead.

Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard showed the Deacons why they were unanimous choices for All-American honors, and every time the Deacons got in the way to contest these gridiron immortals, the giant Army forward wall would erase the obstacles.

The Deacons were badly beaten, but they went down fighting. Nick Sacrinty showed the New Yorkers why he was considered one of the best passers in the country, completing 9 out of 17 attempts despite the fact that he was rushed badly. Nick Ognovich was also a shining light in the loss with a savage defensive play.

DUKE

WAKE FOREST opened its Southern Conference play by meeting the powerful Blue Devils of Duke University in Groves Stadium before a throng of 20,000 spectators, and the Deacons went down 26-19 in a thrill-packed contest that had everything but a strip-tease.

The contest was billed as a battle between Nick Sacrinty's passing and George Clark's running ability, and it turned out to be exactly that as the fans were left gasping and still trying to decide which was best. Clark lost no time in displaying his wares before the Deacons' supporters, running 69 yards for a touchdown on the first play from the line of scrimmage. Nick retaliated by throwing a pass to John Bruno, and Hunky lateraled to End

Dave Harris who went over for the score. The score was tied six to six before the fans had gotten comfortable.

After the Blue Devils had punted out of a deep hole, Nick pitched a strike to Dave Harris on the enemy 10. When Dave caught the ball, he was completely surrounded by "Devils." However, he tossed a lateral to Nick Demetriou who went over untouched. The Deacons lead was short lived as the visitors came back with a drive that paid off when Mr. Clark circled the end for the final 17 yards and a touchdown, tying the score at 13 up at half time.

With resumption of play the bitter battle continued, and George "Mr. Special-delivery" Clark took matters into his own hands again as he put the Deacons behind with a spectacular 58 yard dash. Sutton converted. Nick, however, had another strike to throw at the Blue Devils, and this time he hit Carroll Worthington with a beautiful toss in the end zone. Bo Sacrinty's extra point was blocked, and that was the end of the Deacons' scoring. Duke added an anti-climax when MacCulley plunged over with the final tally.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE

STATE COLLEGE'S Wolfpack almost embarrassed the Demon Deacons by holding them to a one point victory, 19-18. It marked the first victory for the Baptists after three straight defeats, and this victory was provided by the Sacrinty brothers. Bo, the place-kicking expert, provided the margin of victory with a well placed conversion after the Deacons' second touchdown.

Nick was the big offensive spark for the victors as he scored all of the Deacons touchdowns, one on a dash of 89 yards which gave the Deacons a 13-12 lead at the half.

The second half was just as thrilling as the first as State fought the Deacons with everything they had, using a smooth passing and a tricky running attack to off-set the superior weight advantage of the winners. Following a beautiful run by Bruno after taking a pass from Sacrinty, Nick went off tackle for the final Deacon score, making the score 19-12. Sparked by the brilliant play of All-Southern Howard Turner, State came back to throw a scare into Deacon supporters when Naugler plunged over for a score. However, Dave Harris blocked the extra point try, and the Deacons came home with the victory.

PRESBYTERIAN

AFTER a two-week lay-off, the Deacons posted their second straight victory by slaughtering the Blue Stockings of Presbyterian 53-0 before a small crowd, mostly students, in Grove Stadium. The first team played only a few minutes of the game, and then the reserves took over to smash the boys from Clinton, South Carolina. Mac Grandy was the outstanding performer for the Deacons as he scored two of the touchdowns, and also made the most spectacular run of the day. The other touchdowns were score by Bo Sacrinty, Herb Appenzeller, Bill Bullard, and Nick Demetriou. Bo also added 5 points after touchdowns.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

THE DEACONS pulled up to a 500 average by handing the Tar Heels a 14-13 defeat at Chapel Hill. The Deacons lost no time in taking the lead by scoring in the first quarter when Nick Sacrinty went over from the two yard line.

In the third quarter the Deacons added a second touchdown when Rock Brinkley took the ball over from the 11 yard line behind deadly blocking, making the score 14-0 following Bo's second successful conversion. Here the Tar Heels began to fight back, and early in the fourth period they added their first touchdown. Warren, trying to pass, failed to find a receiver, and he elected to run, scoring standing up. Later the Tar Heels scored again when a batted pass came down in the arms of Cook who went over standing up. This time the extra point was added; Bo Sacrinty's educated toe proved to be the margin of victory for the second time in three games. Dick Foreman was selected as the lineman of the South for his great performance in this game. Buck Garrison also played inspired ball despite the fact that he had spent the entire previous week in the infirmary. The game was marked by the terrific tackling of Nick Ognovich and the rest of the Deacons.

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH CAROLINA

ON THEIR ANNUAL trip to Charlotte to meet the Gamecocks of South Carolina on Thanksgiving Day, the Deacons had to be satisfied with a 13-13 tie.

The Gamecocks put up a game defense, and it wasn't until the last three minutes of play that the Deacons pulled up even with the South Carolinians. Nick Sacrinty, whose passes were bottled up for the first time this year, hit Brinkley with a pass in the flat, and Rock carried it 30 yards to the Carolina three yard line from where he went over on a line buck.

The Deacons had things pretty much their own way in the first half, punching over one score in the first quarter. Bo's point after was wide, and the 6-0 lead stood until the third quarter when the Gamecocks flashed a potent passing attack, scoring once in each of the two quarters following the half. They missed their first extra point try, and this left the way open for Bo to tie the score after the Deacons' last touchdown. Jim Harris was the outstanding lineman on the field as he repeatedly slipped into the Gamecocks' backfield to pull down runners before they could get started.

CLEMSON

CLEMSON'S TIGERS were mighty cocky following successive routs of Tulane and Georgia Tech. However, the Deacons went down to the South Carolina school and erased any feeling of invincibility that the Tigers might have had.

Nick Sacrinty was once again the outstanding star of the day as he led the Deacons in a second half rally that made the Tiger's growl a purr. He eliminated an early Clemson lead with an electrifying 52 yard sprint in the third period that completely took the fight out of the military hoys. Following passes to Kinsey and Dave Harris, Nick went over from the four-yard line for the final touchdown early in the last quarter.

This win was responsible for the Deacons getting a bid to the Gator Bowl, and the Deacons' ability to come from behind was responsible for the win. Never has Wake Forest had a team that fought any harder. The Deacons closed the regular season with a record of five wins and three defeats, winding up in second place in the Southern Conference for the second straight year.

GATOR BOWL

THE DEACONS inaugurated the Gator Bowl on New Year's day by defeating the University of South Carolina 26-14 before 10,000 fans.

Once again it was the terrific play of the Sacrinty brothers, along with Rock Brinkley, that provided the margin of victory in a hard fought contest. The Deacons opened the scoring the first time that they got their hands on the ball, with Nick Sacrinty going over from the three. Bo's kick was wide. Deacons led 6-0.

In the second quarter the Deacons continued to dominate the play, but they couldn't hit pay dirt. However, the Gamecocks got their passing attack going in the latter part of the period, and the result was a touchdown when Giles went over from the four. Brems converted to give the Carolinians a 7-6 lead at the half.

The Gamecocks started the second half as they finished the first, but Wake Forest stopped them on their 24 yard line and quickly marched to a touchdown behind the magnificent play of the big Deacon forward wall. Brinkley went over from the five. The next time the Deacons got their hands on the ball, they were off to the races again with Brinkley going over from the four. Bob Smathers crushed what little hope the Gamecocks had left with a 20 yard dash around end on a reverse.

Bo added his second point after touchdown to make the score 26-7. In the last minute of the game, Brems intercepted a pass thrown by Appenzeller to run 98 yards for a score. He also converted to make the final score 26-14.

This marked the final game for several of the Deacons—Nick Sacrinty, Dave Harris, Buck Garrison, Dick Foreman, and Pride Ratterree. These boys played excellent ball all year, and it goes without saying that we will miss them next fall.

BASKETBALL

WAKE FOREST'S basketball team recovered after a slow start, and came on to win a place in the annual Southern Conference Tournament; then they pulled the biggest upset in the history of the tournament by eliminating the White Phantoms of North Carolina in the semifinal round. They bowed to Duke University in the finals, but they had set a mark for future Wake Forest teams by playing in the finals.

Coach Greason opened the season with only two veterans on hand from last year's squad, but he welcomed back three former Deacons—Joe Hinerman, Hank Lougee, and George Veitch, from the service. They were bolstered by two other war veterans who had formerly played at Appalachian State Teachers College, Abner Williams and Deran Walters. Coach Greason had a huge task on his hands in welding these veterans into a smooth-working quintet, and he did it by playing the toughest service teams in this section before conference play got under way. The boys didn't fare so well against the service teams, but they got vital experience.

CONFERENCE GAMES

Richmond 32—Wake Forest 39

THE DEACONS traveled to Richmond and handed the University a 39-32 defeat after trailing by 13 points at one time in the first half. It was the first conference game for the Deacons.

Duke 43—Wake Forest 38

DUKE'S BLUE DEVILS handed the Deacons their first defeat of the season when they stood off a determined Baptist rally. The Blue Devils had taken a big lead in the middle of the first half, but the Gold and Black cut it down to 23-16 at half time. The Deacons out-scored the Blue Devils in the second half 22-20. Ed Koffenberger was the big man in the visitors' attack.

William and Mary 34—Wake Forest 36

THE DEACONS started a Northern invasion by handing William and Mary a 36-34 defeat. The Deacons were forced to hold off a determined Indian rally to capture the victory. Hinerman and Lougee were outstanding for the Baptists.

George Washington 48—Wake Forest 52

IN A HIGH SCORING game the Deacons added another win to their record by trimming the Colonels of George Washington 52-48. The Deacons once more had to stand off a last minute rally to capture the win. Joe Hinerman was again the big noise in the Deacon attack.

Duke 32—Wake Forest 29

THE DEACONS took their second defeat in conference play and their second one at the hands of the Blue Devils when they journeyed to Durham. The Blue Devils took a big lead in the first half only to have the Deacons hold them scoreless while the Deacons were running up 14 points during one period in the second half. However, the Blue Devils held the lead to keep their place as the number one team in the conference.

North Carolina 70—Wake Forest 43

THE POINT-MINDED White Phantoms came into Gore Gym and gave the Deacons a lesson in how to shoot a basket. The Tar Heels were just too much for the Deacons, and they didn't let up until they had buried the losers under a 70-43 score. John "the Hook" Dillon and Jim Jordan gave a masterful exhibition of shooting before an overflow crowd.

North Carolina 69—Wake Forest 31

THE TAR HEELS did it again with another crushing defeat of the Deacons. This time the slaughter took place in Chapel Hill. The Tar Heels again gave another great exhibition of shooting to bury the Deacons' hopes of victory in the first few minutes of play.

William and Mary 51—Wake Forest 59

THE BAPTISTS got the Indians in Gore Gym and scalped them to the tune of 59-51. The Deacons matched an early William and Mary basket, and then went on to dominate the play until the last few minutes of the game when the Indians rallied, coming within three points of the Deacons, when baskets by Hinerman and Williams, plus a foul shot by Walters, put a damper on the visitors. Williams led the scorers with 14 points.

N. C. State 34—Wake Forest 30

THE WOLFPACK caught the Deacons in Raleigh and clipped the Baptists 34-30. The Deacons took the lead in the first half, but they couldn't match the scrap of the Wolfpack in the second half. The win was a jolt to the tournament hopes of the Deacons.

N. C. State 27—Wake Forest 47

THE DEACONS turned the tables on the State's Wolfpack at Gore Gymnasium. Before a packed house, the Deacons kept pace with the visitors during the first part of the game, holding a 23-19 lead at the half. However, they applied the steam in the second half to completely smother the losers. Williams was the high scorer for the Deacons, while Walters played an outstanding floor game.

South Carolina 44—Wake Forest 54

THE DEACONS went down to Columbia to start a two-day tour of South Carolina, and they opened the trip with an impressive victory over the Gamecocks. The outcome was never in doubt as the Deacons were showing improvement with every game. Williams led the Deacon attack.

Furman 32—Wake Forest 36

THE DEACONS closed out their regular season with a hard fought victory over Furman. This enabled the Deacons to close their season with 8 conference victories in 13 starts and a sure bid to the tournament.

TOURNAMENT PLAY

William and Mary 31—Wake Forest 42

North Carolina 29—Wake Forest 31

Duke 49—Wake Forest 30

THE DEACONS entered the Southern Conference Tournament as the "dark horse" team. They lived up to this title by downing William and Mary in convincing style, and then startling the nation by upsetting the favored and top-seated White Phantoms of North Carolina. It was a game that left the spectators gasping and shaking their heads in amazement. The Deacons, it is needless to say, played their best game of the year, and they just out-fought the Tar Heels.

The Deacons were never in the game the following night against the Blue Devils. They seemed to be feeling the effects of the night before as a result of the gruelling contest with the Phantoms, but they gave the best that they had. In all fairness to the Durham boys, it must be said that they played like true champions. There are many who thought that they would have beaten the Tar Heels with the brand of ball that they exhibited against the Deacons.

Too much credit can't be given to Coach Murry Greason for the fine team that he welded together. Deran Walters, Joe Hinerman, and Ab Williams were the spearheads of the Deacons' offense all season, while Hank Lougee and George Veitch were excellent as ball handlers and floormen. Jim Fleet, Warren Hicks, Jack Mayberry, Milton Marney, Nick Ognovich, Bill Gatis, and Jack Manley were all excellent reserve men.

BASEBALL

FOR THE FIRST TIME since the beginning of the war the Wake Forest baseball team resumed its position on the field as one of the "Big Four." A slow start placed the Deacons on the bottom of the roster for a while but a winning streak in mid-season brought them up to third place.

Murray Greason handled the coaching by himself this year, with the managing aid of Sanky Robinson. A total of six letter men were back out of service and contributed much to holding the team together. Clyde Whitener, left fielder, was up to par with his hitting and batting, as was Julian McCall, another veteran outfielder. John "Red" Cochran, centerfielder, was hitting homers with his prewar accuracy. Hank Lougee held down third base and also maintained a very good batting average. George Edwards played the first base spot at the beginning of the season, but was switched shortly afterwards to shortstop, where he remained the rest of the season. Edwards also collected his share of the hits. Jake Pearce, the No. 1 Deacon pitcher, did more than his share in holding the opponents to low scores and putting the Baptists in the win column.

Despite the loses that the Deacons suffered, they never showed despair or lack of courage. Many first year men showed up very well and did much to put the Deacons back in their prewar place in the baseball world.

TRACK

THE DEACON TRACK SQUAD traveled to Washington, D. C., for a tri-school cross-country meet between the Catholic University, Gallaudet and Wake Forest. The meet was held November 17, on the Catholic University track. Rogers Chenault, captain of the team, came in to score first place.

In the spring the team was strengthened by the return of many veteran track stars and also many other new men. Eli Galloway, letterman before the war, Herbie Appenzeller, and Mac Grandy were a few of the sprinters. George Stamps performed on the high and low hurdles. Ray Manieri, Bo Sacrinty and Bob Leonetti were outstanding in the field events. These and others came in to boost the points taken by the Deacons in the Spring schedule. The spring schedule was as follows:

May 4, William and Mary at William and Mary.
 May 11, State College at Raleigh.
 May 17, Southern Conference Championship at Chapel Hill.

TENNIS

This spring, for the first time since 1941, a full-time tennis schedule was planned. Pursuing an "educational" program, the team scheduled the best opponents in this part of the country in order to give the inexperienced players the best tournament experience in the shortest possible time, even though such a schedule would hardly allow for a flattering record.

Badly hindered by one of the rainiest seasons in year, many of the matches had to be postponed or called off completely. One match with North Carolina State College had to be postponed three times because of rain, and the return match could never be played.

A trip down to Clemson began the season on Saturday, April 13. Other matches with Davidson, Duke, Carolina followed—as weather permitted. Scheduled matches with the University of Richmond and William and Mary were rained out.

As far as record is concerned results were poor; but the tournament experience will be invaluable in succeeding years.

April 25—State	Raleigh
April 26—Duke	Durham

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

THIS YEAR the intramural sports were carried on with revived spirit with the return of veterans and the increased enrollment. The full schedules of fraternity and non-fraternity football, basketball and softball were carried out just as in the perwar days.

The fraternity football trophy was taken by the Sigma Pi team while the Conservatives took the non-fraternity crown. The Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity carried away the championship of the fraternity league and the Ruptured Ducks won the non-fraternity title. The Alpha Kappa Pi's and the Colonial Clubbers took the championship honors for the softball league.

Thes two intramural leagues promote clean rivalry and competition between the men in the College and provide a good source of physical exercise for them.

BUILDERS DREAMS

VISIONS created by the imagination precede the achievement of any really great accomplishment. The ability to weave the threads of imagination into the finished fabric is equally important.

It has been the privilege of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY to cooperate with the Howler staff in creating their vision into material form.

Such cooperation is one of the "visions" which precede the building of a successful business, and is a part of the working policy of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY.

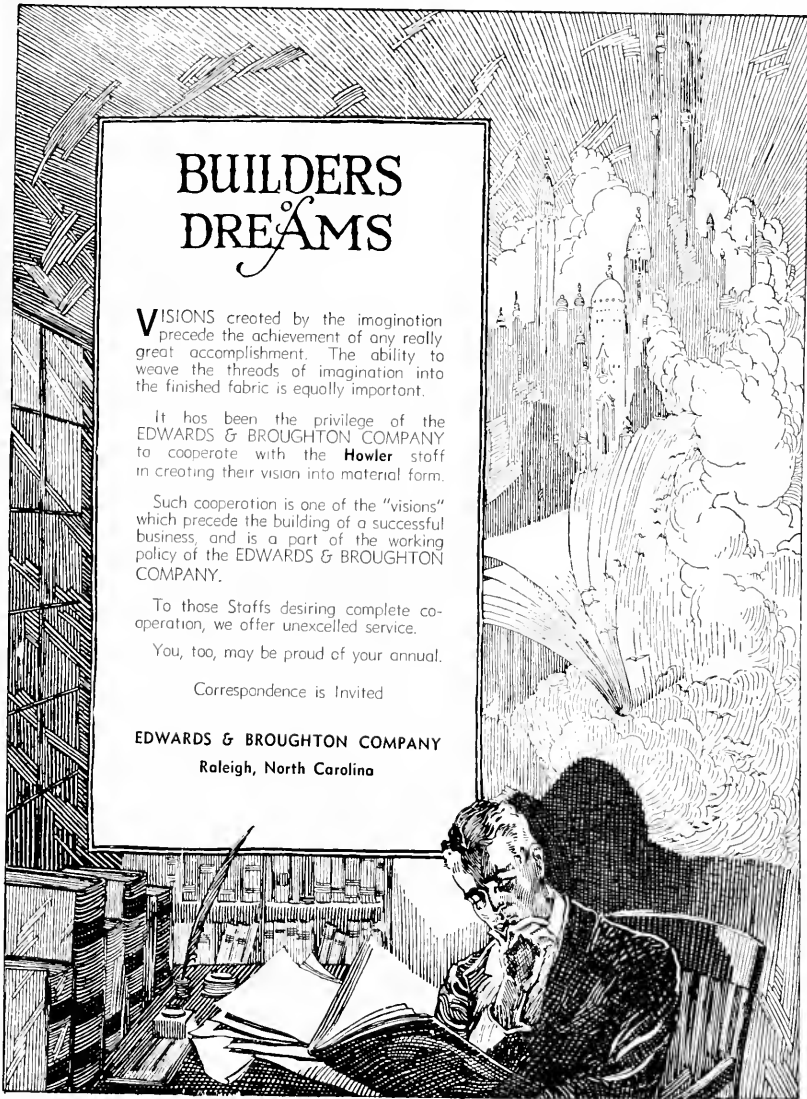

To those Staffs desiring complete cooperation, we offer unexcelled service.

You, too, may be proud of your annual.
